Executive Summary

The Strategic Equality Plan sets out North Wales Fire and Rescue Authority's equality objectives in response to the legislative requirements of the Equality Act 2010 (Statutory Duties) (Wales) Regulations 2011. Publication of the Single Equality Plan is a legal requirement which will be regulated by the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC). The role of the EHRC under the new law is to protect, enforce and promote equality. This role will be discharged through the provision of guidance, regulation and enforcement activity.

In accordance with the legislative requirements, the plan once published will be reviewed no later than a four year period although the Authority may review, revise or remake any objective at any time. The plan outlines the key equality objectives identified by our stakeholders and has been designed to build on the achievements of our previous Equality and Diversity Schemes as well as to meet the new legal duties. The aim of the strategic plan is to bring about real improvements in outcomes for our customers and staff.

The equality objectives have been aligned to the:

- requirements of the General Public Sector Equality Duty, and the Specific Regulations 2011 (Wales);
- North Wales Fire and Rescue Authority's Combined Improvement and Risk Reduction Objectives;
- Welsh Local Government Association's Equality Improvement Framework.

The plan will be publicised and promoted both internally and externally to raise awareness of the work we are doing. Our activity will be monitored to assess the impact on the public and on our employees of the progress we make and reported annually to the Authority.

It is envisaged that in the future the Welsh Local Government Association's Equality Improvement Framework will be used as an assessment tool. To aid that assessment the equality objectives are related to the main headings used in the Equality Improvement Framework.

The importance of the Plan is that it encourages everyone to think about the different needs of our communities. In delivering services to a diverse population we realise that everyone has different needs. Our Strategic Equalities Plan sets out our ongoing commitment to ensuring respect and fairness for the residents, elected members, staff members and all visitors to the North Wales area.

Ultimately the Strategic Equality Plan is about placing citizens at the heart of everything we do.

Equality Statement by the Chief Fire Officer and the Chair of North Wales Fire and Rescue Authority

North Wales Fire and Rescue Authority is committed to equality of opportunity for all, to providing a professional service which embraces diversity and which promotes equality of opportunity. As an employer it is also committed to equality and valuing diversity within the workforce. Our aim is to ensure that these commitments, reinforced by our Core Values, are embedded in our day to day working practices with all our customers, colleagues and partners.

We will provide equality of opportunity and will not tolerate discrimination on grounds of:

gender, gender identity, marital status, sexual orientation, race, colour, nationality, religion, age, disability, working pattern, caring responsibilities, trade union activity or any other grounds which are not justifiable.

Our policies and practices reflect our commitment to the elimination of discrimination and the promotion of equality of opportunity. Through the implementation of these policies and practices, we aim to maintain a culture in which prejudice and discrimination are not tolerated and where staff are able to challenge unacceptable behaviour.

North Wales Fire and Rescue Authority is committed to enabling staff to achieve a balance between work commitments and their lives outside work. We recognise that staff who are able to balance work and home lives will provide a better service, and enjoy better health, be motivated and able to give of their best at work.

The Law and the Public Sector

The Equality Act 2010

The General Public Sector Equality Duty (April 2011)

The Equality Act 2010 amalgamated previous disparate pieces of equality legislation, harmonising and strengthening equality legislation under one new Act. The Act includes a public sector equality duty that requires public sector bodies, in the exercise of their functions, to have due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct that is prohibited by or under this Act;
- Advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it;
- Foster good relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it.

The Equality Act lists a number of characteristics which must not be used as a reason to treat some people worse than others. These are the 'protected characteristics'.

The protected characteristics are:

- age;
- disability;
- race;
- sex;
- pregnancy and maternity;
- gender reassignment;
- religion or belief; and
- sexual orientation.

Treating a person worse than someone else because they have one or more of these characteristics is discrimination. We all have some of these characteristics. Often, but not always, they are the first thing we notice about people: whether they are older or younger, a man or a woman, if they share our ethnic origin or have a disability that we can see.

Key areas of the new Act

The Act provides powers to extend age discrimination protection outside the workplace. It:

- Clarifies protection against discrimination by association, for example in relation to a mother who cares for her disabled child;
- Extends protection from discrimination on the grounds of gender reassignment to school pupils;
- Extends discrimination protection in the terms of membership and benefits for private clubs and associations;
- Creates a unified public sector duty, intended to promote equality in public policy and decision-making, existing provisions being extended to the protected characteristics of sexual orientation, age and religion or belief, and proposes a new public sector duty related to socioeconomic inequalities;

- Provides for legislation requiring that employers review gender pay differences within their organisations and publish the results;
- Provides for changes to the way that individual claims are enforced, and gives employment tribunals wider powers to make recommendations for the collective benefit of employees;
- Allows a UK Minister of the Crown to amend UK equality legislation to comply with European law without the need for primary legislation;
- Extends the period for which all-women shortlists may be used for parliamentary and other elections until 2030 and allows parties to reserve places on shortlists of candidates for people on the grounds of race or disability.

The Act also provides definitions of: direct discrimination; discrimination arising from disability; indirect discrimination; harassment and victimisation.

The Equality Act 2010 (Statutory Duties) (Wales) Regulations 2011

The Specific Duties for Wales

There are also associated specific statutory equality duties for Wales (Equality Act 2010 (Statutory Duties) (Wales) Regulations 2011) that enable a public authority in Wales to meet the general duty. The specific regulations include:

- Publishing Equality Objectives;
- Publishing a Strategic Equality Plan;
- Engagement and involvement provisions for protected characteristic groups;
- Ensuring published material is accessible;
- Assessing impact of relevant policies and practices;
- Training and collection of employment information;
- Promoting knowledge and understanding amongst employees of the Equality Act;
- Addressing unfair pay differences;
- Reviewing progress on the Strategic Equality Plan and associated Equality Objectives;
- Procurement practice provisions.

The broad purpose of the specific duties in Wales is to help listed bodies in their performance of the general duty and to aid transparency.

Who is covered by the specific duties?

The specific duties apply to listed bodies in Wales. They do not apply to non-devolved public authorities operating in Wales.

Most devolved public authorities in Wales covered by the general duty are also covered by the specific duties. The specific duties set out the steps that listed bodies in Wales must take in order to demonstrate that they are paying due regard to the general duty.

The Human Rights Act 1998

The Human Rights Act provides legal protection for the basic rights of human beings, such as the right to have a private family life, or the right to be educated.

The Human Rights Act requires public sector bodies to ensure that they place Human Rights at the heart of the way public services are developed and delivered.

WLGA - Equality Improvement Framework

Applying the Framework will assist a local government body to:

- Achieve citizen-centred service delivery;
- Improve outcomes for local citizens;
- Tailor service provision – understand better how to build services around the most pressing need;
- Improve efficiency – using limited resource to its best potential;
- Reflect ‘fairness’ when setting improvement objectives under the Local Government Measure;
- Meet the requirements of the Equality Act 2010, including the Public Sector Equality Duties and the Equality Act 2010 (Statutory Duties) (Wales) Regulations 2011;
- Mainstream equality into everyday working practices;
- Achieve continuous equality improvement;
- Better understand how any financial cuts might affect people or groups of people;
- Identify specific organisational risk associated with equality issues;
- Improve procurement practices.

The primary aim of applying the Equality Improvement Framework is to embed equality into the working practices of local government. This means that the service provision and employment practices of a local authority are able to meet people’s needs, providing the best it can within the available resource.

The Equality Improvement Framework is designed to be a route-map to generating improvement – it is not a specific list of tasks to be ‘ticked-off’ until all boxes are completed. It presents a framework to be built upon, with the detailed specific issues and actions being considered at the local level.

Therefore it does not prescribe what must be done, but proposes that if all the elements of the suggested framework are addressed as appropriate, a local authority should be in a strong position to present good quality equality principles and practice. This will provide considerable business benefits and confidence that citizens’ needs are being properly considered, whilst also ensuring legal responsibilities are being fulfilled.

North Wales Fire and Rescue Authority is one of three in Wales. The role of the Authority is:

- To perform all the duties and responsibilities of a Fire and Rescue Authority in accordance with appropriate legislation and regulations, in particular the Fire and Rescue Services Act 2004, the Regulatory Reform Order (Fire Safety) Order 2005 - which came into force on 1 October 2006, and the 1995 Combination Scheme;

Our Mission Statement

‘Our mission is to make North Wales
a safer place to live, work and visit’.

The Fire and Rescue Service

North Wales Fire and Rescue Service is headed by the Chief Fire Officer, who has overall corporate management and operational responsibility for the Service and provides professional advice to the Fire and Rescue Authority.

The North Wales Fire and Rescue Service contributes to the achievement of this vision in numerous ways including through active participation in community safety partnerships, working with partners to reduce the incidence of crime and substance misuse.

It supports other fire and rescue services in the UK when required and remains continually prepared to protect in the event of large scale disasters.

Core Duties

The principal duties of the North Wales Fire and Rescue Service as defined in the Fire and Rescue Services Act 2004, are:

- To promote fire safety through the provision of information, publicity and encouragement to prevent fires and deaths and injuries by fire;
- To give advice, on request, about how to prevent fires and restrict their spread in buildings and other property, and on means of escape in the event of fire;
- To make provision for protecting life and property in the event of fires;
- To make provision for rescuing and protecting people from serious harm in the event of road traffic accidents;
- To respond to other emergencies or eventualities as required to protect people, property, or the environment.

Corporate Aims

1. To prevent accidental and malicious fires.
2. To protect people from being killed or injured by fire and other hazards.
3. To protect the community, businesses and the environment from being harmed by fire and other hazards.
4. To find ways to improve in order to meet the expectations of the community.

Consultation and Engagement

In North Wales a network of Equality Advisers was set up between Local Authorities, Police, Ambulance, NHS Trust, Snowdonia National Park and the Fire and Rescue Service to collaborate on a stakeholder event. This culminated in a joint consultation event held in September 2011. The event engaged a number of organisations working across North Wales that are representative of the protected characteristics.

The findings of the event were scrutinised and have contributed to the formation of our Equality Objectives. Specifics of the findings will be outlined in more detail in the Action Plan of the SEP as a direct link to the Equality Objectives.

Assessing for Equality Risk Assessment

The law requires that a duty to pay 'due regard' be demonstrated in the decision making process. Assessing the potential equality impact of proposed changes to policies, procedures and practices is one of the key ways in which public authorities can show 'due regard'.

The Equality and Human Rights Commission recommend that public bodies assess the impact their policy and financial decisions might have on the new protected groups where relevant and proportionate and this is best done through the use of an Assessing Impact tool.

We will publish copies of the completed Equality Risk Assessments on our corporate website.

Monitoring and Reporting on the Progress of this Strategic Plan

We will monitor how well we perform on the objectives we have developed through the Service's performance management framework.

We will produce an annual report outlining what we have done in the preceding year, and what actions we have planned for the coming year.

Community groups and staff networks will have an opportunity to comment on this report and to make suggestions of how we could do better.

The report will be presented annually to the Fire and Rescue Authority.

Complaints Procedure

Our overriding objective is to provide a high quality service that is cost effective and efficient within the North Wales area for the people of North Wales. However, it is accepted that occasionally things will go wrong. At these times it is our duty to put things right.

Our complaints procedure is in place to deliver continued improvements across the service. We constantly strive to improve customer confidence and satisfaction. We are committed to investigating every complaint thoroughly, and monitoring the complaints on all areas of equality.
